Truth group seeks to mend fences

NATIVE AFFAIRS The mood was part wake and part wedding yesterday as the Truth and Reconciliation Commission started its public work moving the damage done by Indian residential schools off the sidelines of history and in front of all Canadians.

Murray Sinclair, the head of the commission, explained the purpose of the gathering: sharing tales of what residential schools did to survivors and their families. "It's about closing a book on a painful past but also about new beginnings," he said.

Jaffer says wife pregnant after snubbing summons

Rahim Jaffer and Helena Guergis are expecting a baby — a fact that might arouse sympathy for the former minister, but won't likely soften up the MPs who are ready to grill the father-to-be today.

Jaffer revealed the couple's good news in a statement to explain why he had ignored a summons to appear before a Commons committee.

The former Edmonton MP said he and his wife had been trying to have a child for some time and called Guergis's condition a "high risk" pregnancy.

Guergis, a former junior minister for the status of women, would have been in the early stages of a pregnancy when she was ousted from the Conservative caucus in early April.

Prime Minister Stephen Harper had heard as-yet unproven allegations she helped Jaffer peddle influence in a potentially fraudulent business plan with an associate who is facing fraud charges in Ontario.

"It did not help that she has been under considerable stress as a result of her treatment by the prime minister and others," Jaffer said the statement.

"Today I was with my wife, as I should have been, when tests were conducted to ascertain the health of our baby. I am relieved to report that the test results were good and there are no significant concerns right now about the baby's health."

Just before Jaffer issued his statement, the government operations committee had reacted angrily to his absence and suggested he could face a contempt-of-Parliament charge if he didn't comply with the summons. They have been waiting to ask him about discrepancies in his testimony at a first appearance on April 21 that have emerged since then.

"This has gone beyond disrespect to belligerence," said NDP MP Nathan Cullen. "The excuses of Mr. Jaffer have been exhausted. There is nowhere else for him to hide."

SOCCER Edmontonians are stricken with World Cup fever and with the lack of local representation on the big stage, thousands of footy fans got their fix at Foote Field last night.

FC Edmonton, the city's newest professional soccer club, took on the Montreal Impact of the North American Soccer League (NASL) in front of over 2,100 fans.

"It pumps me up, even for my own games," said Sabrina Jhamandas, 18, a local player in Alberta's major league. "It makes me excited to play."

While Jhamandas was watching on the sidelines, FC Edmonton was off to a great start on the pitch, taking the lead in the 16th minute.

Tara Nay, Jhamandas' friend and teammate, said she will continue to come out and support the home side because she knows a few of the FC Edmonton players.

"It makes it more fun to watch," she said. "Since the Drillers left, it's nice to have something back in Edmonton."

And with several high-profile matchups scheduled for this inaugural exhibition season, Nay said she expects to see more fans in the stands.

Doctor wants tougher distracted-driving bill

LEGISLATION The director of the Alberta Centre for Injury Control and Research says there should be tougher rules in the province's proposed distracted-driving legislation.

Dr. Don Voaklander says the law should include banning the use of handsfree cellphones as well as hand-held devices.

The doctor says there's significant research that suggests that the distraction from hands-free devices is close to that of a hand-held cellphone.

But Paul Oss with Alberta Transportation says banning hands-free phone chats while driving is not enforceable.

"How do you know that they're actually using a hands-free phone? They could be talking to themselves, they could be singing," Oss said.

'Christmas in the summer'

Plans for Capital Ex unveiled

ANDREAS MORSE

andreas.morse@metronews.ca

Five weeks to go until Edmonton's biggest summer celebration begins.

The countdown to Capital Ex started yesterday as Northlands launched plans for this year's fair festivities.

"It's like celebrating Christmas in the summer, that's how excited I got as a kid coming out here," said Capital Ex spokesperson Randy Kilburn.

"That's how excited I got as a parent bringing my own kids out here, and that's how excited I get as a grandparent bringing my grandkids. It still feels like I'm celebrating Christmas Day in July."

Capital Ex is 10 days of midway barkers, music, and bags and bags of mini doughnuts. It's about great concerts and children's entertainment on the Telus Stage, President's Choice SuperDogs flying through the air next to FMX and BMX bike-riding pros, and relaxing with a glass of wine or beer at Sip! in Hall A or one of the three patios in the park.

Not to mention the nightly fireworks displays. "To me, this is one of the most exciting times of the year and it does bring out the kid in me," said Northlands president Ken Knowles. "I am so excited about the presentation that we have for our fair-going public this year.

We have a lot of new attractions, a lot of new entertainment and I think we have an absolutely great offering that will certainly appeal to the masses."

The fun kicks off with the parade on July 22. Gates to the grounds open at noon on July 23 and the action doesn't stop until the gates close on Aug. 1.

Canada Day festivities to honour composer

CELEBRATION The Polish eagle will be circling over this year's Canada Day celebrations, which will honour the 200th birthday of the Polish composer Fryderyk Chopin.

Events Edmonton announced yesterday the details of the event, created in collaboration with the Chopin 2010 Celebration Committee.

"On Canada day, we as Canadians celebrate our birthday as democratic, dynamic and exciting country," said John Szumilas, honorary consul of The Republic of Poland for Northern Alberta.

"So it's absolutely wonderful that on Canada Day, we will as Canadians be celebrating not only the birthday of a country, but also the birthday of Fryderyk Chopin."

Starting at 2 p.m., the celebration will be held at Louise McKinney Riverfront Park, where Polish dancing and musical performances will showcase Chopin's music.

For the first time, there will be a midway with 10 rides and games for the entertainment of young and old. As in previous

National Aboriginal Day celebrations open

MIRIAM ITZECK

Shoppers at City Centre Mall got to see a very special show for the launch of the National Aboriginal Day celebrations yesterday.

With songs, dances, drums and blessings from an elder, the aboriginal community shared its culture with passersby.

Coun. Ron Hayter, head of the Mayor's Aboriginal Initiative, said the understanding and interest for native culture in Edmonton grew tremendously in the past few years.

"See the people that turned up here today? You wouldn't have seen that 20 years ago," Hayter said.

"The aboriginals were here, but they simply weren't given any kind of profile. They're here now and we're proud of them."

"See the people that turned up here today? You wouldn't have seen that 20 years ago."

Coun. Ron Hayter

Continuous efforts from the city and the native community were necessary to achieve this shift, Hayter said.

"The city has been a leader in developing this closer liaison with the aboriginal community," he said.

"We have a wonderful partnership that has been developed from both sides."

The National Aboriginal Day, June 21, ties in with the Aboriginal History and Culture Month that started on June 10. Various events will be happening in the city until June 27 to celebrate Canada's First Nations, Metis and Inuit people.

As the starter, the weekend festival on the legislature Ground on June 19 will prepare Edmonton with music, dance arts and crafts for the official Aboriginal Day opening ceremonies at Canada Place on June 21.

Len Webber, minister of aboriginal relations, seized the opportunity at City Centre Mall to announce a new Safe Communities Innovation Fund pilot project.

The project targets aboriginal and immigrant/refugee communities in Edmonton and aims to make them safer by creating an enhanced support system for people at risk. The Alberta government has pledged $500,000 for the project each year.

MPs head off Homolka bid

Parties strike deal to ban killer from getting a pardon

Federal political parties have joined forces to ensure notorious sex killer Karla Homolka won't be pardoned for her gruesome crimes.

The four parties struck an 11th-hour deal late yesterday to hive off measures in a pardon-reform bill that would effectively ban Homolka from receiving a pardon.

The measures are to be passed at all stages by the end of today, when the House of Commons is expected to adjourn for the summer.

The Senate, which will sit several weeks longer, must also pass the bill before it can go into effect.

Other more contentious provisions of the bill will proceed at a more leisurely pace when Parliament resumes in late September.

Homolka, who served a 12-year sentence for her role in the rape-murders of Ontario teens Leslie Mahaffy and Kristen French, is eligible to apply for a pardon as of July 4.

"My family is forced to relive the pain and horror every time that woman's name is in the news. A pardon would be unthinkable," said Talin French-Doyle, one of Kristen French's relatives, in a press release.

"Forgiveness is the right of a victim, not a requirement of the State."

"My family is forced to relive the pain and horror every time that woman's name is in the news."

Talin French-Doyle

There is no confirmation Homolka actually plans to apply for a pardon. But the theoretical prospect led to an ugly round of finger-pointing yesterday.

With no party wanting to take the blame, a deal seemed inevitable despite the overheated rhetoric.

Public Safety Minister Vic Toews confirmed a deal had been struck.

"On the critical area of our bill so as to prevent notorious criminals from receiving a pardon, we have an agreement," Toews said.

Union for the Mounties?

RCMP The Conservative government says it will bring in a new bill to "modernize" labour relations at the RCMP.

The move prompted speculation the government will take the first step toward unionization of the Mounties.

Treasury Board President Stockwell Day was expected to table proposals today, the day that Parliament is to rise for the summer recess.

The government is tight-lipped about the bill, and has given no indication until now of how it intended to respond to an Ontario court ruling that upheld a challenge by B.C.- and Ontario-based Mounties seeking to unionize.

The ruling struck down a section of the RCMP act that bans unions as unconstitutional.

Public Safety Minister Vic Toews declined to say much about the bill, except to confirm it is in answer to the court decision.

"All I can say is that the court indicated that there is a charter right for the RCMP to be able to decide whether or not they wish to unionize," said Toews.

Two 'twisted' men jailed for 18 years

Father, brother sentenced for so-called honour killing of teen

The "twisted" mindset that led two men to believe killing their headstrong 16-year-old daughter and sister would spare the family embarrassment is "abhorrent," a judge said yesterday.

Muhammad and Waqas Parvez were both sentenced to at least 18 years in prison after pleading guilty to the second-degree murder of Aqsa Parvez in a so-called honour killing.

In the weeks leading up to the 2007 killing, Aqsa had clashed with her family — from Pakistan — over her desire to shed the hijab, wear western clothing and have the same freedoms as her friends, the Brampton court heard.

The two Parvez men believed they could keep the family's pride intact by killing Aqsa, rather than letting her have a part-time job and go to the movies with friends, according to facts agreed to in court after the men pleaded guilty Tuesday.

Superior Court Justice Bruce Durno called it "profoundly disturbing" that Aqsa could be murdered by the people who were supposed to protect her.

"That twisted, chilling and repugnant mindset could imply that the family pride could at least be kept intact or perhaps even enhanced by having two grown men overpower and kill a vulnerable teenager."

"This is clearly a case where there must be a very significant increase above the minimum."

Superior Court Justice Bruce Durno

A second-degree murder conviction carries an automatic life sentence and the judge has discretion to set parole ineligibility at between 10 and 25 years. Both the Crown and defence called for the men to serve 18 years before being eligible for parole and Durno agreed.

"This is clearly a case where there must be a very significant increase above the minimum because of the breach of trust from Muhammad, the abuse of a person under 18 by both, the abhorrent motivation behind the crime ... (and) the gender equality issues," he said.

IRAN Defying week-old UN sanctions over its nuclear program, Iran promised to expand its atomic research yesterday as its president vowed to punish the West and force it to "sit at the negotiating table like a polite child" before agreeing to further talks. Tehran, which insists its nuclear work is peaceful, said it will build four new reactors for atomic medical research.

President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad said Iran will not make "one iota of concessions." He said he will soon announce new conditions for talks with the West, but first he wants to punish world powers for imposing sanctions.

"God willing, you'll be punished a bit and sit at the negotiating table like a polite child," he told a crowd during a visit to the central Iranian town of Shahr-e Kord.

BP will pay $20B

Oil giant bows to Obama's claims pressure

After intense negotiations, BP yesterday bowed to U.S. President Barack Obama's demand for a $20-billion US fund to compensate victims of the disastrous oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico.

The humbled chairman of the giant British company apologized to the American people for the horrendous accident.

BP is suspending its dividends to shareholders for the rest of this year to help pay for the costs, said chairman Carl-Henric Svanberg.

Obama announced the agreement after a four-hour meeting between White House and BP officials, with the president participating for various portions.

He also announced the company had agreed to set up a separate $100-million fund to compensate oil rig stands the anger Americans feel toward him and his company.

workers laid off as a result of his six-month moratorium on deepwater drilling.

"The structure we are establishing today is an important step toward making the people of the Gulf Coast whole again, but it will not turn things around overnight," Obama said.

He said the vulnerable fishermen, restaurant workers and other people of the Gulf "are uppermost in the minds of all concerned. That's who we're doing this work for."

Likewise, Svanberg, speaking for a company that has been assailed from every corner for the past two months, said, "I hear comments sometimes that large oil companies are — are greedy companies or don't care, but that is not the case in BP. We care about the small people."

Obama and Svanberg met privately in the Oval Office for about 25 minutes, said White House spokesman Robert Gibbs.

The president did not meet separately with Tony Hayward, BP's outspoken CEO whom the president has suggested he would fire if he could.

Kurds urged to ban female circumcision

IRAQ Human Rights Watch called on Kurdish authorities in northern Iraq to ban the practice of female genital mutilation, and said in a report released yesterday that the majority of women in the self-ruled region undergo the medically risky and emotionally painful procedure.

Female circumcision involves the removal of a girl's clitoris and sometimes also other genital parts, usually shortly after birth or at a young age.

Critics say it can lead to 73% Nearly three quarters of the Kurdish women and girls surveyed had had the procedure performed.

painful sexual intercourse, complications in childbirth and eliminates any pleasure for women during sex.

The procedure was performed on nearly 73 per cent of 1,408 Kurdish women and girls, aged 14 and older, who were interviewed as part of a study conducted between September 2007 and May 2008.

The Kurdish Regional Government has come under criticism for the treatment of women on the territory, which enjoys a high degree of autonomy and has been relatively peaceful compared with the rest of Iraq since the 2003 U.S.-led invasion.

The Human Rights Watch report noted that authorities have taken steps on other women's issues, but have been reluctant to deal with female circumcision.

Dating site wants Apple lovers

INTERNET A website called Cupidino — in homage to Apple Inc.'s home base in Cupertino, Calif. — aims to connect fans with like-minded "Machearts."

The idea is that if you love the iPhone and Mac maker's products you might be best suited to date a fellow Apple fan.

Profile pages on the site reveal such intimate details as earliest Apple product purchases and lists of favourite iPhone apps.

Cupidino is the brainchild of Mel Sampat, a former Microsoft employee, who came up with the idea during an argument with his girlfriend over using his iPad during dinner.

Sampat told her that if they ever broke up he would date someone who liked Apple products.

"The more I thought about it, the more I realized people that are true Apple fans might actually have a lot more in common than they realize," he said.

The site, which was initially available in a free "beta" version but starting yesterday charges users about $5 US a month to read messages they've been sent, has snagged 16,000 Apple fanboys and fangirls since it launched in early June.

It's usable only on a Mac, iPhone, iPod Touch or iPad, naturally. And you can only sign up on a Mac or iPad.

Your browser lets Cupidino know what operating system your computer uses, so if you try to access it on a PC it will lead you to a page that apes Apple's popular "I'm a Mac" ads and lets you know Cupidino is off-limits from Windows.

For now, it can be tricky to find anyone near you. The site only lets you filter users by country and, in the U.S., by state. Sampat said he and two unpaid stakeholders are working on more features.

Gates, Buffett urge billionaires to donate

Microsoft Corp. co-founder Bill Gates and billionaire investor Warren Buffett are launching a campaign to get other American billionaires to give at least half their wealth to charity.

Patty Stonesifer, former CEO of the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, said yesterday that Gates and Buffett have been campaigning for the past year to get others to donate the bulk of their wealth.

The friends and philanthropic colleagues are asking people to pledge to donate either during their lifetime or at their death.

The handful of billionaires approached so far have embraced the campaign, said Stonesifer, a close friend of Gates.

Gates and Buffett are calling their campaign The Giving Pledge. Buffett, chairman and CEO of Berkshire Hathaway Inc., said in a letter introducing the concept that he couldn't be happier with his decision in 2006 to give 99 per cent of his roughly $46 billion fortune to charity.

Buffett's plan will eventually split most of his shares of his Omaha, Neb., company between five charitable foundations, with the largest chunk going to the Gates Foundation.

Besides Buffett's pledge to the foundation, he also plans to give Class B Berkshire shares to the Susan Thompson Buffett Foundation, which he and his late first wife started, and the three foundations run by his three children.

Investors pull out of mining deal

RESOURCES A Canadian mining firm has seen a billion-dollar deal come undone after its would-be Chinese partner decided it wasn't prepared to inject the cash needed to get their proposed Chilean joint copper venture off the ground.

Cost cutting has helped Bell Aliant

TELECOM The chief executive of Bell Aliant says the telecom company will reap the benefits of further cost savings this year as it rolls out new fibre optic technology.

Karen Sheriff told Aliant's annual meeting yesterday that new fibre optic cable will reduce maintenance and capital costs throughout the business.

Bell Aliant closed nearly a dozen small call centres in Atlantic Canada last year, shifting some of the employees to the remaining larger call centres. Bell Aliant has been the largest phone and telecommunications company in Atlantic Canada since its predecessor was formed by the merger of several carriers in the four eastern provinces.

Last month, Bell Aliant was given a $2-million forgivable loan by the Nova Scotia government to help bring its fibre optic technology to more than 30,000 homes in the Cape Breton Regional Municipality by the fall.

An ode to those special fathers

Relating

Sofi Papamarko

metronews.ca/papamarko

Good dads remember the rules of every card game. Good dads make the fluffiest scrambled eggs. Good dads never lose their patience while teaching you how to ride a bike or drive a car.

Good dads are inexplicably interested in things like "golf" and "lawn care," because if it weren't for them, who would be?

Good dads are genuinely impressive at Jeopardy.

Good dads get $12 haircuts. (I don't know how that works. Some form of special dad discount, I guess.)

Good dads know everything about politics from the '60s and '70s and would be happy to tell you about the October Crisis in detail.

Good dads don't mind when you rifle through their vinyl collections.

Good dads take the boring sections of the paper and leave you with the good stuff.

Good dads cheer you on. Good dads have a sixth sense when it comes to the barbecuing of various meats.

Good dads bring you ginger ale when you're sick.

Good dads give you money. To see dumb movies. Starring idiots.

Good dads will pick you up from whoever's house at whatever hour and not even mention that your breath smells like a distillery.

Good dads can talk to you forever in person, but whenever you call them on the phone, they will ask if you're well and then say, "Here's your mother."

Good dads will sing the praises of the cookies you baked, even though they're burnt on the bottoms.

Good dads know where all the best toboggan hills

Good dads will let you win until you're 12, but then they'll straight up murder you in Scrabble.

Good dads like Law & Order (the show and also the concept).

Good dads don't want you to go to any trouble.

Good dads are not easily grossed out. They'll gut a fish, wipe an extra-snotty nose and dispose of a cat-mauled bird carcass without batting an eye.

Good dads have a knack for selecting anniversary cards that make moms cry.

Good dads will let you go to any university you want (even though they secretly want you to attend their alma mater) to study whatever you choose (even though it's completely impractical.)

Good dads get all choked up at your graduation.

I have a really good dad. Happy Father's Day to all of the good dads out there!

Getting in tune with your self-esteem

BroadMinded

Melinda Mattos

metronews.ca/broadminded

It's OK to be loud. You deserve to take up space. Your body is powerful. You're your own worst critic.

These are the lessons I wish I'd encountered as an overly self-conscious, painfully shy tween. Instead, I learned them just a few years ago, as a fully grown woman playing in a punk band.

Ever since I was a kid,

I've been attracted to musical instruments. I slowly amassed a collection that included everything from a keyboard to a cowbell, but never felt confident enough to perform in front of others. In high school, the boys wailed away on improvised guitar solos while I shuddered at the thought of being watched.

Singing was even worse. Secretly, I loved to do it, but I could barely raise my voice to speak in class.

It took me until the tender age of 27 to face my fears and get onstage, playing bass and singing in Toronto punk band The Weirdies. At 30, I'm still no opera singer, but I've realized that I don't need to be. Playing in a band has taught me that putting yourself out there is worth the risk. It's shown me that it's alright to screw up, even when people are watching. (Guitar falls off mid-song? Pick it up and keep going. Forget the words? Just make something up.) And it's proven what I suspected all along: Being onstage feels awesome.

This is why I'm thrilled to see Girls Rock Camp (girlsrocktoronto.org) starting in Toronto. Much like groups based in Portland, Ore., (girlsrockcamp.org) and Vancouver (girlsrockcampvancouver.ca), it's a non-profit that builds self-esteem through music creation, with female musicians coaching the girls.

No musical experience is necessary and campers get the chance to play an instrument, write songs and rock out in a fully supportive environment.

If Girls Rock Camp had been around when I was younger, it probably wouldn't have taken me 27 years to get onstage. But, for the sake of the next generation of rock 'n' rollers, I'm glad it's here now.

Melinda Mattos is the co-founder of feminist teen magazine Shameless. Her band, The Weirdies, plays The Shop (1566 Queen St. W.) June 18 at 9 p.m.

Two lifetime awards later, designer Michael Kors is still anxious to explore

Twenty-nine years is a lifetime in fashion, yet Michael Kors' enduring youthfulness makes his two lifetime achievement awards this month seem a little surreal.

At 50, Kors is still the guy who bounces down the runway with a bona fide grin on his face. He's the one who calls his mom his muse, the one who likes to do red carpets, the one who gabs it up with customers at trunk shows.

Most of all, he's the guy who still loves what he's doing, and he has no intention of calling it a "lifetime."

"In another 30 years, I don't know what they'll call it," he says, "a second lifetime achievement?"

Kors first sold his signature uptown look to Bergdorf Goodman while he was dressing windows at the former midtown boutique Lothar's. Now the Long Island, N.Y., native keeps company with socialites and stars, and became a celebrity himself on Project Runway with Heidi Klum and Nina Garcia.

His clothes aren't fussy, and he values function so the pea coats, slinky cocktail frocks, wide-leg trousers and cosy cashmere also work for those without boldface names. (Kors has a second, less expensive line called Michael Michael Kors).

He favours the colour camel, offset by crisp white and jet black. And, in Kors' world, anyone and everyone wears aviator sunglasses.

Kors has created for himself and his fans a wardrobe that implies an appreciation for crisp classics — and a hefty frequent-flyer balance. It's "luxurious but low key and laid back," he says.

He's drawn inspiration from Italy's Amalfi Coast, Palm Beach, Calif., and the chicest ski resorts in the Alps, the Greek islands, Hawaii and St. Bart's. It was announced this week that the largest Kors retail store will open next year in Paris, so surely there'll be a little French flair in an upcoming collection.

Michael Kors, 50, says fashion designers need to be students of different places and cultures if they want to stay relevant.

But there are still other places to explore. "I have never been to Australia and I am doing a huge Australia trip at the end of the year. I'm going to Morocco for the first time — and not because of Sex and the City. ... I've never been to Shanghai, and I'd like to go to Peru. I have a Peru fantasy," he says.

Fashion designers need to be students of different places and cultures if they're going to stay relevant and hit the right trends, he adds.

Canada's great hip-hop hope

Drake

Album: Thank Me Later

Label: Cash Money

Rating: ⊕⊕⊕⊕

TORONTO'S

DRAKE IS

Canada's great hope for hip-hop credibility.

As a singer and rapper, he's got the goods to keep Thank Me Later fresh, eschewing hip-hop's trite stereotypes in favour of self-examination, be it his inability to find love or enjoy the success he's already found. But unlike other rappers, like Kid Cudi or B.o.B., Drake only has one setting: Chilled and introspective. He wears it well, but when you've got Nicky Minaj, Jay-Z and Weezy on your debut, it's hard not to be a bit disappointed by this wet blanket. Nevertheless, Thank Me Later should still succeed where other Can-rappers didn't.

Robyn

Album: Body Talk Pt. 1

Label: Interscope/Universal

Rating: ⊕⊕⊕⊕

NO ONE'S

gone through more incarnations than Robyn's. The pop star started off as a sappy singer when she was 16, became an electro indie act eight years later, and now she's trying her hand and minimalist pop. Luckily for her, whatever she does is pretty good (well, maybe not the early stuff). Her latest is part one of a trilogy and sees the Swedish vocalist sing over aggressive keyboard beats and weird electro blips. Her melodies are as catchy as any mainstream singer, but the presentation is better suited for a dark club than an arena.

Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers

Album: MOJO

Label: Warner

Rating: ⊕⊕⊕⊕

IF THIS WAS

anyone but Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers, MOJO would be labelled "early '70s derivative." Petty and company return to their pre-Damned-the-Torpedoes roots. You can hear the Allman-Brothers in the rolling double guitar of First Flash of Freedom, J.J. Cale in the Oakie shuffle of Candy, and the howling boogie of Paul Butterfield on Jefferson Jericho Blues (a tongue-in-cheek ode to Thomas Jefferson's slave/lover Sally Hemings).

Petty is getting sentimental as he steps into his twilight years. And why not? It gives him a chance to stretch out and showcase the talents of his remarkable band.

Sarah McLachlan

Album: Laws of Illusion

Label: Nettwerk Music

Rating: ⊕⊕⊕⊕

IT'S EASY TO

understand why a guy (especially a drummer) would want to marry a woman like Sarah McLachlan. But once married (Ashwin Sood), it's probably a good idea to stay married. Otherwise, you're going to end up being the subject of your ex's next album. Our Sarah is nothing, if not an emoter. And that wonderfully elasticized voice über-oozes emotion all over tracks like Illusions of Bliss, Rivers of Love, Heartbreak (actually, the most light-hearted tune on the CD), Love Come, Awakenings and Don't Give Up On Us. I've missed a couple of tracks here, but you've probably got the picture. McLachlan fans are going to love it. When the gush gets too much, it's easy to settle into the exquisite production work of Pierre Marchand and the superb, multi-layered guitars supplied by Luke Doucet, Bill Dillon and Colin Cripps.

Devo

Album: Something for Everybody

Label: Warner

Rating: ⊕⊕⊕

THIRTY YEARS

AGO, Devo

was considered

edge, if not subversive. Here, however, the artists from Akron sound like just another '80s synth-pop band with a nerdish sense of humour. Once Mark Mothersbaugh and Gerald Casal had unleashed their wonderfully bizarre "Devo" theory on the cultural landscape, there were few other places for them to go. Let's face it, Devo was a single-joke band, little more than a novelty act. This re-union album — the first studio effort in 20 years — is just an excuse to squeeze into the old industrial coveralls and revisit their youth. Unfortunately, there isn't much funny about a 55-year-old sophomore.

World Cup tunes add to global soccer fever

Never mind who wins on the field. There's another, more melodic, World Cup battle afoot — on the music charts, in the stands and blaring from radios and mobile phones around the world.

As 32 teams compete in South Africa for soccer's highest prize, a musical outpouring by artists and supporters from London to Berlin to Seoul is urging their teams to victory — or, in England's case, begging them not to disappoint the fans again.

England's vast number of patriotic soccer anthems stand in contrast to its meagre success in international competition. It hasn't won the World Cup since 1966, and the fans won't let the players forget it.

On the Simon Cowell-produced song Shout for England — currently No. 1 in the British singles chart — rapper Dizzee Rascal implores players to “set aside your ego/We're tired of bragging about 40-odd years ago.”

Trevor Watts, 35, an AV

technician and soccer fan from Bracknell in southern England, said songs are an integral part of the World Cup experience.

“It is what the fans can take part in,” said Watts, who has co-written his own World Cup anthem, A Message to You, Rooney with his band the Bogus MCs.

Inspired by the ska classic Rudy, A Message to You, it urges England star Wayne Rooney to control his infamous temper and lead the team to victory.

“They can sing the song, and they become like the 12th man (on the team),” Watts said. “That's what it is. It is all about inspiring the team to victory.”

Alongside the fans, big businesses and a host of major recording artists are also seeking a bit of World Cup magic.

Tournament organizer FIFA has named both an official tournament song, Colombian singer Shakira's Waka Waka (This Time for Africa), and an official anthem, R. Kelly's Sign of a Victory.

Bono, never one to miss a global occasion, has joined Benin's Angelique Kidjo on a cover of Curtis Mayfield's Move on Up.

Coca-Cola has chosen Somali-Canadian rapper K'Naan's Wavin' Flag as the song to capture the joyous sense of community at the event — and sell some soda. Pepsi is using Akon and Keri Hilson's Oh Africa for its World Cup ad.

Bella's childbirth ideal time to split story: Stewart

The stars of Twilight are already looking forward to their vampire franchise's final two instalments.

Author Stephenie Meyer's fourth and final book Breaking Dawn is splitting into two parts, and while scripts are still being written, star Kristen

Stewart says she knows exactly where the fourth movie should end: With Bella having just given birth and Edward being forced to change her into a vampire to save her life.

“I feel like it's so obvious where you break it up. It's as soon as she turns,” Stewart told AP Television at a weekend publicity event for the third Twilight light film, Eclipse, opening June 30. Gosh, you open your eyes to this different world, right? That would be amazing.”

Stewart said she's looking forward to her character's development in the final two films, the first of which is set for release Nov. 18, 2011.

“It's such a crazy concept though,” she said. “I'm going to be playing a wife and a mother and a vampire. I haven't read the scripts ... but I don't see where else it could split other than when she turns. ... I'm really curious as to what I'm going to be doing in the next six months.”

Co-star Taylor Lautner said he approved of Stewart's idea, and praised the decision by film distributor Summit Entertainment to break up the last book.

Condon, who directed Dreamgirls and Kinsey, will direct both films.

Entertainment in brief

CLASS ACTS Prosecutors won't file charges against a cast member of MTV's Jersey Shore who had been accused of punching another woman at a South Beach nightclub. Prosecutors in Miami-Dade County said yesterday they won't charge Sammi "Sweetheart" Giancola after another woman claimed she was punched in the face May 8. Prosecutors say a case of battery may have occurred but it's not their policy to file misdemeanor charges against those no longer in the county. Giancola has since returned to New York. Prosecutors said the case, though now closed, could be reopened if Giancola returns to the Miami-area. Giancola's attorney, James Leonard Jr., says his client doesn't plan on returning to Florida, adding the case was a "feeble attempt to get publicity." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

'Stroke of luck'

Phil Collins remains humble in light of Songwriters Hall of Fame nod

Even though he has written songs that have become etched into pop culture, from Against All Odds to In the Air Tonight, Phil Collins insists he has no special formula for writing a hit.

"It's all a stroke of luck, it's a complete accident," he said in an interview this week. "I've never purposefully crafted a song to be a hit my life."

But luck rarely strikes so often. So, tonight, the Songwriters Hall of Fame will give the former Genesis frontman its highest honour, while the inductees for the hall will include Canadians David Foster and Leonard Cohen, Earth, Wind & Fire, Jesse Stone, Laura Nyro, Jackie DeShannon, Johnny Mandel, Matt Dennis, Bob Marley and Sunny Skylar. The hall will also honour Bridge Over Troubled Water, written by Paul Simon, inducted into the Songwriters Hall of Fame, but getting this special honour was such a shock, he didn't quite believe it. When he got the email, he called his manager and asked if he would be presenting the award instead.

"That's something that I never thought I'd be qualified to get; I still don't think I'm qualified to get," he said.

Collins will join a star-studded cast among the honorees. Taylor Swift is getting the Hal David Starlight Award for emerging songwriters, while the inductees for the hall will include Canadians David Foster and Leonard Cohen, Earth, Wind & Fire, Jesse Stone, Laura Nyro, Jackie DeShannon, Johnny Mandel, Matt Dennis, Bob Marley and Sunny Skylar.

The hall will also honour Bridge Over Troubled Water, written by Paul Simon, as it celebrates its 40th anniversary.

Other special tributes include one for producer Phil Ramone and publisher Keith Mardak.

Collins said he didn't labour over the lyrics for one of his biggest hits, In the Air Tonight.

"That song was totally improvised. ... Those words just came out of my mouth at the time I was writing the song. It's ironic that that's the song with the biggest story and yet it's a song with the least story at the source."

Unruly crowd leads to Drake cancellation

FANDEMONIUM A free concert by up-and-coming Canadian rapper Drake and pop band Hanson was cancelled Tuesday after twice as many people as anticipated showed up and many became unruly, police said.

The show started at about 6 p.m. with an opening act at Pier 17 on Manhattan's South Street Seaport, a popular summer locale for concerts. Hanson, the Tulsa, Oklahoma, brothers behind the 1997 hit MmmBop, and headliner Drake, whose album Thank Me Later debuted Tuesday, were to appear on stage soon after.

Organizers were anticipating about 10,000 people but nearly 20,000 showed up, police said. Many people climbed roofs and started throwing bottles, as concertgoers smashed together toward the stage, police said.

Witness Tamika Johnson told the Daily News newspaper: "People in the front started leaving because they were getting crushed."

Two people were arrested on minor charges and six people suffered minor injuries, police said.

I lined up the four competitors for our first coffee competition. Each roasted in the past two days, the 400-gram bags of Transcend beans ($15) proudly listed countries, growers' collectives and altitudes of origin, as well as helpful instructions for my drip coffee maker at home.

Each bag also offered handy descriptors, so we knew that campo alegre from Colombia is dark, chocolate, floral, fresh and spice. I decided to sample each one blind in order to avoid bias.

Kenya's dark karatina is a Transcend entry point for the Starbucks drinker.

However, its strong, aggressive flavours didn't leave that acidic residue on my tongue. Ethiopia's amaro gayo, on the other hand, was a bright and sharp appeal to the Second Cup crowd. I adored its weird aftertaste of lime that lingered after each sip.

The campo alegre was a powerful, mellow blend which Tim Hortons fans can embrace. It takes well to double-doubling but it has a lot more substance than expected. Finally, the delarisse francys from Brazil was a slow burner. I'm not sure if I tasted "almonds, chocolate, sweet nuts and dark berry", but I enjoyed a damn good cup of the mild brew.

The superbly-trained counter staff can rip a perfect cappuccino or steer you toward the right blend, and there are new beans arriving constantly. Enjoy a transcendent cup of coffee, at home or abroad.

No funeral for Gary Coleman

LET THE MAN REST IN PEACE ALREADY! The independent attorney appointed to oversee the property and cremation of late actor Gary Coleman said yesterday there will be no funeral services for the former child TV star.

A Utah judge on Monday named Robert Jeffs the special administrator of Coleman's estate after a dispute between the Diff'rent Strokes star's ex-wife and ex-girlfriend.

Jeffs told The Associated Press on yesterday that Coleman's 2005 will specifies that there should be no funeral services.

Coleman died May 28 after suffering a brain hemorrhage at his home in Santaquin, 55 miles south of Salt Lake City.

The judge ordered that Coleman's remains be cremated no sooner than Wednesday afternoon.

"The judge hasn't entered the order granting me authority as special administrator," Jeffs said. "That's just a technicality; (I) need a formalized order."

Jeffs said even if the order were entered Wednesday, it was unlikely Coleman would be cremated the same day.

Jeffs has said Coleman's ashes and property will be securely stored until a final determination is made on an estate executor. It's a decision Jeffs said could take months. Coleman said in a 1999 will that he wanted to be remembered in a wake conducted by people who had no financial ties to him and "can look each other in the eyes and say they really cared personally for Gary Coleman." He also wanted none of the media that followed Coleman's legal, financial, health and marriage troubles through his adult life to be allowed to attend.

Brian Austin Green flubs Foxy proposal

AND THUS RECONFIRMS WHY DAVID SILVER NEVER, EVER GOT THE HOT CHICK While vacationing in Hawaii, Brian Austin Green reportedly proposed to girlfriend Megan Fox, but the celebration didn't last too long since the ring slid off and got lost in the sand, according to Us Weekly. "I saw her jumping up and down," a witness says of the oceanside proposal. "Later, I saw a half-dozen staff sifting through the sand." The couple reportedly picked out the two-carat diamond ring together in Beverly Hills. "Security and maintenance staff spent a couple of hours looking for it," a source says. "No one found it."

This is the second time the couple has gotten engaged. Green proposed to the blue-eyed stunner in 2006, but they called off the engagement early last year.

Kruger's marriage philosophy

MOVE OVER, NIETZSCHE Diane Kruger has been happily dating Fringe star Joshua Jackson since 2006, but don't expect them to walk down the aisle anytime soon. "I'm not religious, so that aspect of it means nothing," the German actress tells Allure magazine. "Don't get me wrong — I believe in commitment. But out of experience, I know if that goes away, no paper you have signed will keep you around."

Kruger was previously married to French actor Guillaume Canet from 2001-2005.

At the time of their split, sources reported the acting pair's busy schedules were to blame for the break up, with Kruger reportedly saying they had no time to see each other anymore. The split was also said to be an amicable one.

Stylish flooring for any room

Floating floors are perfectly durable, super stylish and not too expensive

DecorMoment

metronews.ca/decomoment

One of the most popular and most effective ways to change your home is to update the flooring. The trend has been to replace outdated carpeting with a hard-surface flooring like wood, laminate, cork and even leather. A floating style floor can be installed on top of an existing smooth surface and the planks clicks together creating an easy installation that requires no glue or nails. Here are a few choices of flooring that is perfect for apartments, condos and houses:

Pre-Engineered Hardwood Flooring

Stained and protectively coated at the factory, pre-engineered wood flooring is a great no-fuss, no-muss option when wanting real hardwood floors. A top layer of genuine wood is affixed to an ultra dense cork backing for extra strength and durability.

You'll find pre-engineered wood floors with texture, large graining, hand-scraped and wire brushed looks for a textural, rustic feel. The planks can float over tile or old wooden floors so installation is a dream.

PRICE: $7 PER SQUARE FOOT.

Laminate Flooring

Most people know laminate flooring; over the past 5-6 years it has received a bit of a bad rap as being cheap and fake looking. Laminates have come a long way and technology has improved the look so much that you might not be able to tell the difference between wood or stone (two of the most popular laminate looks). The good stuff will have texture to mimic the real thing and bevelled edges that offer a beautiful detail. Its great for kitchens, bathrooms and depending on the look of your home can go almost anywhere. Great for apartments, condos and budget renos.

PRICE: $4 PER SQUARE FOOT.

Cork flooring

Cork flooring isn't the bulletin-board orangey cork from the 1970's; it's very stylish with many stain/colour options. When stained a dark colour, cork takes on the look of burled wood making it attractive for almost any room. I especially like using it in casual kitchens, bedroom and play rooms as its got great sound absorption and comfort underfoot. Look for it in many of the new model homes as designers are loving the look and incredible value.

PRICE: $7 PER SQUARE FOOT.

Leather Flooring

Leather floors have only recently become affordable. They use to be available exclusively through designers and would cost upwards of $120 per square foot. Now eco-luxury leather floors are made with leftover leather used in the manufacturing of purses, belts and coats which makes it not only affordable, but also a eco-friendly choice in the luxury floor arena. The leather is bonded and then stained in beautiful colours and sometimes stamped to resemble various reptile/animal skins. Its most suitable for places like dens, library rooms, wine tasting cellars and bedroom.

PRICE: $11 PER SQUARE FOOT.

Time to BBQ

JENNIFER BILL
for Metro Canada

Fire up your barbecue party with a heap of grillable goods, cold drinks and — best of all — good company.

While it's easy to become meat-mesmerized, don't forget the decorating checklist: Funky lights, lanterns and candles, including citronellas to keep bugs at bay, pretty centrepieces and tableware, and comfy chairs to aid in some heavy outdoor munching.

"For me it's not that different from how I would entertain inside. The same principles apply — a pretty centrepiece that is not too fussy, a nice tablecloth, and I like candles to set the mood in different areas of the yard," said Margot Austin, senior design editor of Style at Home magazine.

"There should be a seamless transition inside and outside, as people tend to come inside and out (continually), so you should make the outside seem as warm and inviting as the inside."

Along with the fire starters, ignite the conversation starters with today's cool barbecue tools and accessories.

"I think what is really cool is there's a cooking utensil for every food you want to make on the barbecue — the baskets to cook veggies, or you can make pizza, cook a whole fish — you can clamp it into a basket," said Austin.

"One thing that I never ever do is use any plastic or paper plates. That's just one of my things. I don't know what it is, but a meal just never feels like a meal. And I like to use paper napkins. You can only try so many times to get the mustard out."

Colours to avoid

When painting your concrete porch, stay away from solid white or light colours in general because it will make your concrete porch stick out like a sore thumb. Remember that you want it to recede. SYLVIA PUTZ/FOR METRO CANADA porch looks and probably was tacked on without any thought or aesthetic consideration. Older homes usually have lovely wooden porches that look just right — concrete doesn't.

Even on a newer home, it wouldn't hurt to dress up a concrete porch.

If you've got a concrete porch that is solid, you can tile it. Try a black matte porcelain tile for a gorgeous contemporary look. You can use terracotta or a non-slippery ceramic too — just make sure the tile is meant for outdoor conditions.

Natural stone (granite, sandstone, or limestone), thinly cut and cemented onto a cement porch looks stunning. Faux stone brings down the cost a little, but labour costs, if somebody else is doing the work, is the major expense. Doing it yourself, if you're the handy type, remains one of the best ways to save money. But, be sure to seal it.

The same goes for clay pavers. Since these tend to be thicker than most tiles or stone, you've got to have sufficient height between the top of your porch and the bottom of your door.

Another great way of covering up a concrete porch is with interlocking wooden deck tiles, which are simply laid down.

Pain-free gardening possible, with these tips

With warm, sunny weather finally here, Canadians can finally enjoy one of their favourite pastimes — gardening — and its many benefits. With today's hectic world revolving around deadlines and obligations, gardening allows us to escape from busy schedules, lower blood pressure and reduce stress.

"Believe it or not, gardening is proven to be a great form of exercise, burning up to 300 calories per hour," says Karen Webb, physiotherapist and author. "At the same time, all that watering, planting, raking, and weeding without proper preparation can increase susceptibility to muscle strain and injury."

Tips: Take breaks

Quite often, people spend hours focusing on the same activity and staying in the same awkward position without any breaks. Remember to move around every 15-20 minutes, take short walks and stretch.

Planning makes a difference

Alternate a difficult task with an easy one and keep your work in front of your body with your arms in your easy zone, between the level of your hips and shoulders, while moving with your work.

Manage your aches

"Gardening (burns) up to 300 calories per hour."

Karen Webb

To relieve muscle pain and soreness, consider taking an over-the-counter analgesic, like Tylenol Back Pain or Tylenol Muscle Aches & Body Pain.

Use props

There is no need to spend a lot of money on expensive equipment. Using a hot water bottle and foam pad when kneeling can help prevent knee injuries. A bucket turned upside down makes a great little stool as well.

REAL ESTATE Home sales and prices fell in May as would-be buyers felt the pinch of changing regulations and higher interest rates. The decline is a "departure from the normal seasonal pattern," the Canadian Real Estate Association noted in its release yesterday. It's likely that changes to mortgage regulations and rising interest rates pulled forward a number of sales into April that would have otherwise taken place at a later date.

Favre's surgery went well: Doc

Brett Favre's doctor indicated yesterday that his recent ankle surgery went well and the quarterback, left, has a few more weeks of rehabilitation before he will decide if he will return for a 20th NFL season. Orthopedic surgeon Dr. James Andrews said there were no problems with last month's arthroscopic procedure, which removed scar tissue and bone spurs from Favre's left ankle.

Grand finale in Hollywood

History, NBA title on the line for Celtics, Lakers in Game 7

(Series tied 3-3)

Celtics at Lakers

Even when Lamar Odom was a kid with limitless imagination growing up on New York's playground courts, he thinks he might have dismissed today's season finale as a bit too extravagant.

When the Los Angeles Lakers take on the Boston Celtics in Game 7 of the NBA finals, Odom realizes it's a fantasy come true for any basketball player with the audacity to dream this big.

"It's historic, especially when you talk about these teams and what they stand for, the pride," the Lakers forward said yesterday. "This is what you envision when you're a kid in your backyard. Counting down, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 ..."

Another memorable chapter in the NBA's best rivalry will end with a coronation at Staples Center, where the defending champion Lakers will try to earn their 16th banner while denying Boston its unprecedented 18th title.

Boston Celtics forward Paul Pierce, below, puts up a shot as Los Angeles Lakers forward Lamar Odom defends on Tuesday night. The Lakers will host the decisive Game 7 of the finals tonight at 9.

For the fifth time in their 12 finals meetings, Boston and Los Angeles need all seven games to decide it. Each previous time it went to Game 7, the Celtics won — but when the current Lakers and Celtics take the court for the NBA finals' first Game 7 since 2005 and just its second in the past 16 years, most will try awfully hard not to think about the history and pressure heaped on their shoulders.

It's fine for kids and historians to savour this scenario, but Kobe Bryant knows it's not a good idea for players to get caught up in it.

"It's got nothing to do with me," said Bryant. "(When) I look back, years from now, or even when I was a kid, (if) you'd talk about being in this situation, I'd be really excited. But when I'm in the moment right now, I've got to play. I've got to focus on that. I can't focus on the hype about it."

TENNIS Roger Federer has been seeded No. 1 for Wimbledon ahead of Rafael Nadal. Federer, a six-time Wimbledon champion, received the top seeding yesterday even though Nadal recently replaced him as No. 1 in the world rankings.

NHL The Detroit Red Wings and Todd Bertuzzi have agreed to a two-year contract. Red Wings general manager Ken Holland confirmed the deal last night. Bertuzzi had 18 goals and 44 points last season, ranking fifth on the team.

NHL Winnipeg will host an exhibition game featuring the Stanley Cup champion Chicago Blackhawks and Tampa Bay Lightning, True North Sports & Entertainment Limited said yesterday. The Sept. 22 matchup will be the seventh NHL pre-season contest hosted by Winnipeg since 1997 (the Jets moved to Phoenix after the 1995-96 season), and the fourth at the MTS Centre.

NFL Washington Redskins players are calling Albert Haynesworth selfish for skipping the team's mandatory Lightweight Kamal Shalorus, right, throws a punch at Dave Jansen at WEC 46 on Jan. 10 at the Arco Arena in Sacramento, Calif.

Mystery man headlines MMA event

From Iran to Turkey and Britain to the U.S., Kamal (The Prince of Persia) Shalorus now finds himself in Edmonton one win away from a title shot.

The Iranian-born mixed martial arts fighter takes on former lightweight champion Jamie Varner at Rexall Place on Sunday in World Extreme Cagefighting's first foray outside of the United States. The winner gets a shot at Ben Henderson, who beat Varner in January in a 155-pound title unification bout.

An accomplished amateur wrestler with good power in his hands, Shalorus (6-0-1) did not make his pro MMA debut until April 2008. But Varner (16-3-2 with two no contests) knows all about him. "I said it a million times, Kamal is the toughest guy you never heard of," Varner said on a media conference call.

Shalorus has won both his fights in the WEC but remains a bit of a mystery. For example, his passport lists his age at 37 but he concedes he doesn't really know how old he is.

He never had a birth certificate, but says he is "for sure, 100 per cent" younger than 37.

Rexall Place is being configured for a potential crowd of about 8,000 for the fight card, which follows UFC 115 in Vancouver last Saturday

FOOTBALL Canadian Interuniversity Sport will allow members of the suspended University of Waterloo football program to transfer to another school without penalty, a decision that will contribute to the team's "death knell," according to one parent.

The governing body of university sport in Canada announced yesterday that players will be permitted to move to another school without having to sit out a year, as is usually the case. The university supports the position.

Waterloo suspended its football program for a year in a surprise announcement Monday after tests on 62 players revealed nine potential anti-doping infractions. The Canadian Centre for Ethics in Sport conducted the tests, and is waiting on the final results of 20 blood tests, which can detect the presence of human growth hormone.

"There was no heated debate about it," CIS chief executive Marg McGregor said. "It became very clear that CIS wants to create a soft landing for players who are clean, but who find themselves in this unfortunate situation. It was an easy decision to make."

McGregor said the CIS learned of Waterloo's decision to suspend the program the same day the announcement was made.

Ratings hit

Brazil's 2-1 win over North Korea averaged an audience of 1.2 million, making it CBC's highest-rated World Cup broadcast on Tuesday.

TAPE DELAY North Koreans finally got a glimpse of their football team against Brazil, 17 hours after the World Cup match kicked off in South Africa. The game took place in the middle of the night North Korea time, but state-run Korean Central Broadcasting aired the match last night. The nation's sole TV channel typically does not broadcast overnight or during the day.

STRIKE FIFA and South Africa's World Cup organizers went on the defensive yesterday about security issues at five World Cup stadiums caused by a stewards' strike over low pay. The spokesmen for FIFA and the organizing committee declined to address the problems at their daily news briefing, referring all questions to police. "We have nothing further to say about the security issue, please call the police," spokesman Rich Mkhondo said.

SOCCEROOS Australian football chief executive Ben Buckley and star player Harry Kewell denied reports of internal team fighting yesterday as criticism persisted of coach Pim Verbeek over the team's emphatic loss to Germany. Buckley called a news conference after an Australian radio station reported that senior players had approached him to complain about Verbeek's tactics during the 4-0 rout in Durban on Sunday.

'Disaster' looming

South Africa could be first host to exit in first round

South Africa will make World Cup history for all the wrong reasons if it fails to beat France in its last group game and becomes the first host in the 80-year history of the competition to go out in the first round.

"It will be a disaster for us, the home country, to go out in the first round," midfielder Steven Pienaar said after yesterday's 3-0 loss to Uruguay which left South Africa with only one point from two matches.

Failure to beat former champion France at Bloemfontein on Tuesday will mean the fans won't have their own team to cheer on for the rest of the month-long tournament in their own country.

"It's going to be tough now, it's going to be difficult," Pienaar said. "We have to watch tomorrow's game (between France and Mexico) and hope for a draw."

As disappointing as it would be if South Africa does go out, Pienaar said the nation would not lose interest.

"It won't change the World Cup," he said. "People are having fun."

By the time Uruguay scored its third goal in injury time, however, Loftus Versfeld stadium was half empty.

The fans had given up on their team after Uruguay striker Diego Forlan had fired a penalty into the roof of the net in the 80th minute to go with his 25-yard strike in the 24th.

The South Africans fought hard but could not match

Dejected captain Aaron Mokoena, No. 4, of South Africa leaves the field with teammates after losing to Uruguay yesterday.

the Uruguayans for organization and skill and the cold truth was that they have a lot to do to become a force in world football.

"Uruguay played with great patience, which we didn't have at the same level," said South Africa coach Carlos Alberto Parreira, a Brazilian with a wealth of experience who guided his own national team to World Cup glory in the United States in 1994.

"I'm most disappointed with conceding the third goal when the game was almost over. It was unnecessary. Now we have a morale obligation to fight to the very end against France; we can't put our heads down."

Asked how he felt about the outcome, defender Bongani Khamalo replied: "Really bad. You see the final result, it looks horrible."

"As long as there's a chance, we have to believe. There's one more game. Obviously, the result tomorrow will tell a lot."

World Cup

Swiss rein in Spain

Tournament favourites held scoreless in upset win

GROUP H RESULTS

Switzerland 1 Spain 0

The World Cup needed a jolt. Switzerland provided it.

Gelson Fernandes scored on a rare Swiss attack, giving his team a stunning 1-0 upset yesterday over European champion and tournament favourite Spain.

The loss ended Spain's run of 12 straight wins and handed the Spanish just their second loss in 50 games — the other was to the United States at the Confederations Cup in South Africa last year.

It also provided a thrill at a tournament that has seen few surprises and just 25 goals after the first game for all 32 teams.

"To be fair, I'm not used to scoring goals, so I was a bit surprised," said Fernandes, who got just his second in international play. "It was a bit of luck."

And tenacity. Eren Derdiyok created Switzerland's big chance in the 52nd minute by surging through the centre of Spain's defence and rounding Iker Casillas. Gerard Pique's desperate tackle stopped Derdiyok, but Fernandes pounced on the loose ball and forced it into the net.

"It's just a special moment," he said.

Spain badly outshot the Swiss and held the ball 63 per cent of the time, but could find no way through Switzerland's determined defence.

"Today wasn't our day," Spain coach Vicente del Bosque said. "We have two games ahead of us. We have to find a way to win them."

It won't be easy. Well-regarded Chile beat Honduras 1-0 in the other Group H opener yesterday.

France, Mexico to meet in high-pressure match

GROUP A PREVIEW

France vs. Mexico

GROUP A A French team in disarray will face a Mexico lineup that is growing in confidence in a Group A match today that could be crucial in determining who progresses in the World Cup.

Mexico scored a late equalizer in the tournament's first match against South Africa, taking some of the gloss off the opening day celebrations for the host nation.

France opened later last Friday with a lacklustre scoreless draw against Uruguay that didn't encourage anybody except its group rivals.

"They have their names, we have ours. But names don't play, men do," Mexico captain Gerardo Torrado said.

"Nothing short of a win is good for us."

France coach Raymond Domenech tried to take the pressure of his players.

"I don't really believe in favourites much. It's always the same, as we saw this afternoon between Switzerland and Spain," Domenech said, referring to Switzerland's shocking 1-0 win against the European champion. "It's what happens on the pitch that decides things."

Domenech expects Group A to remain tight until the final games next week.

"Unless a team loses 4-0 or 5-0 — and they are finished on goal average — it will go down to the last day," he said.

Unlike last week, when France didn't train in Cape Town on the eve of the match, Domenech took his squad to Polokwane to avoid the teeming rain and muddy fields of Knysna, where the team is based.

"It's important to be able to train in good conditions, that's why we modified our program," he said. "It was still raining (in Knysna). We needed a bit of sun and, above all, a good quality pitch."

The only positives France could take from its dull draw against Uruguay were the solid performance of Abou Diaby in midfield, and a rare clean sheet from a makeshift defence.

Chile gets first win since 1962

GROUP H RESULTS

Chile 1 Honduras 0

Jean Beausejour tapped in the only goal yesterday, giving Chile its first World Cup victory in 48 years with a 1-0 win over Honduras.

Beausejour knocked in a cross from defender Mauricio Isla in the 34th minute to give the Chileans three points in Group H.

"We're very happy, and we have to enjoy this triumph," Chile forward Alexis Sanchez said. "But we have to move ahead and win the game against our next rival."

Chile came close to doubling its lead on several occasions but squandered several chances, particularly in the second half.

ARIES
MARCH 21-APRIL 20
You have been running around so much lately that various people seem to think you have forgotten about them.

TAURUS
APRIL 21-MAY 21
You will look back today and realize just how silly it was to get annoyed about things which, in the greater scheme of things, are of no real importance.

LIBRA
SEPT 23-OCT 23
As the Sun approaches the midheaven angle of your chart over the next few days you will get the chance to prove yourself to those in power.

SCORPIO
OCT 24-NOV 22
You have been somewhat suspicious of late but when the Sun moves in your favor on the 21st your attitude will become a lot more positive.

GEMINI
MAY 22-JUNE 21
The Sun will be leaving your sign in a matter of days, so get cracking on all those things you have been promising to do but never quite got around to.

SAGITTARIUS
NOV 23-DEC 21
It would appear that you are no longer willing to give someone the benefit of the doubt when they mess things up.

CANCER
JUNE 22-JULY 22
You will be counting your blessings today, which will increase dramatically early next week when the Sun moves into your sign.

CAPRICORN
DEC 22-JAN 20
In a matter of days the Sun will move into your opposite sign, making this the ideal time to look back over the first half of the year.

LEO
JULY 23-AUG 23
Anyone who tries to take liberties is going to be in for a shock. You won't take nonsense from anyone today.

AQUARIUS
JAN 21-FEB 18
Like it or not you will have to pace yourself over the next few weeks. You have pushed your boundaries to their limits, physically and emotionally.

VIRGO
AUG 24-SEPT 22
The last few weeks may not have been easy but adverse events have toughened you up and made you believe that you can handle anything.

PISCES
FEB 19-MARCH 20
Life has been rather demanding of late, but in a matter of days you will find it easier to please yourself for a change.

This day in history

- 1885: The Statue of Liberty arrives in New York Harbor.
- 1944: Iceland declares independence from Denmark and becomes a republic.
- 1958: The Wooden Roller Coaster at Playland, which is in the Pacific National Exhibition, Vancouver opens. It is still open today.
- 1972: Watergate scandal: five White House operatives are arrested for burglarizing the offices of the Democratic National Committee, in an attempt by some members of the Republican party to illegally wiretap the opposition.
